God is No Delusion: A Refutation of Richard Dawkins: Crean ...
Belief in God is no delusion. It is inherently and fundamentally rational—a logical response to seeing God's handiwork (Psalm 19:1). Belief in God is the source of true wisdom regarding why human beings do evil things so often and so naturally, why we can work so hard to be good and still fail, and why Jesus Christ and only He is the spiritual hope for mankind.

Is God a delusion? | GotQuestions.org
The God delusion is in fact a non-argument against God. Though informal, it fails to make any substantive claims and renders a conclusion with no basis for acceptance other than an appeal to emotion. To posit God as a delusion generally signifies a failure to consider the robust truth claims of theism vis-à-vis the Judeo-Christian view.

God put a star in the sky to guide people to the baby. In a dream God told Joseph to take his family to Egypt. Then God stood by and watched as Herod killed thousands and thousands of babies in Israel in an attempt to kill Jesus. As a man, God's son claimed that he was God incarnate: "I am the way, the truth and the life," he said.

God is Imaginary - 50 simple proofs
For this purpose, God Is No Delusion works well: the book is clearly structured and the author doesn't wander too far from the topics. There are some cases where Crean misunderstands what Dawkins writes, but these are probably unintentional. Many of the arguments of the author are easy to debunk and the argumentation is occasionally very dubious.
