In the Old Testament the word "Holy" is almost always associated with those things, people, places and teachings, which are totally dedicated to God or for service to God. The word "profane" has to do with everything else, both ordinary things and activities, as well as things which are sinful or vulgar.

The holy and the profane. A feature of New Calvinism is that it mixes the holy with the profane, and this, in my opinion, is because there is no fear of God before their eyes. The embedded video is an example of New Calvinist worship in practice. The scene is The Resolved Conference (2008) of John MacArthur's Grace Community Church, renowned for its commitment to the Reformed faith.
